

I need access to televised information and entertainment like everyone else. Closed captioning makes this accessible to my deaf daughter and her family and friends. The FCC rule since 2006 is that all programming will be captioned. This program should not be an exception, since deaf people and those who are hard of hearing cannot watch it or any other program without closed captioning. The FCC should make no exceptions to this rule and continue to support deaf and HOH people everywhere.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey Mandel, MD
